

The Gospel today is sometimes called “the Gospel in miniature” because it so concisely sums up the Gospel message. In even more condensed form, “God loved. . . God gave. . .” is the paradigm for stewardship — we give because we love.

The Most Holy Trinity

Key words and phrases: “God so loved the world that he gave his only Son.”

To the point: At first glance, this gospel may seem an odd choice for the Sunday we celebrate the tripartite personhood of God. The Father and Son are mentioned, but the Holy Spirit is nowhere to be seen. But despite the lack of explicit mention, this gospel is rich in the Spirit. It is through the Spirit overshadowing Mary that Jesus comes to be in the world, and the Spirit accompanies Jesus throughout his ministry and mission on earth. The silence here is often part of how the Spirit works, in subtleties and whispers rather than in obvious or understandable ways. We might prefer the Spirit’s work-like all of God’s work to be more evident to us, but the wisdom of God differs from ours and so our work is training our eyes to see the quiet hints of God’s hand in the world.

Between the readings: The second reading finally names all three members of the Trinity explicitly on this Trinity Sunday. St Paul uses their names as a greeting, one still use at Mass today. This is a powerful greeting. We begin everything we do in the names of these three persons in one God. The familiarity of this triad-Father, Son, and Spirit-can make us forget that there is a beautiful mystery at play here. God’s very essence is relationship, is love, to the point that God needs to be three persons so that the love has someplace to go.

To experience: We live out the mystery of the Trinity in the ongoing dance of all our human relationships. As the ancient hymn “Ubi Caritas” reminds us, wherever love is, God is present. God is the source and sustenance of all the different ways we experience love in our human relationships.

Vinnies CEO Sleepout

This winter, a team of us from Willetton and Bateman Parish will once again join other business and community leaders to sleep out on a cold winter night. Every night, thousands of Australians experience homelessness. While we only do it for one night, for our homeless friends, this is their life. In the morning, while we get to go back to our comfortable homes; our homeless friends will be worrying about their next meal, how to keep warm, how to keep dry, and other basic necessities. For the homeless, this dignity sapping experience is relentless. This weekend, we will be collecting donations after all masses. (We accept cash and EFTPOS.) Please help us to help them. <https://www.ceosleepout.org.au/fundraisers/ichthys>

“Truly I tell you, just as you did it to one of the least of these who are members of my family, you did it to me.” (Matthew 25:40)
